WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 .- (By the Associated Press.) The opening of the week finds increased interest in the financial situation in Congress, and the Senators are being sharply called upon by the public to indicate where they stand. The following poll of the Senate on the repeal bill has been given out as one submitted to President Cleveland for his personal information For repeal-Senators Aldrich, Allison, Brice, Caffery, Camden, Carey, Chandler, Cullom, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson, Gerdon, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Hawley, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Houston, Lind-say, Lodge McMillan, McPherson, Manderson, Mills, Mitchell of Wiscon-sin, Morgan, Morrill, Murphy, Palmer, Platt, Proctor, Sherman, Smith, Squire, Stockbridge, Turple, Vilas, Voorhees, Doubtful, with a disposition to vote against repeal — Senators Call, Cam-eron, Hansbrough, Pascoe, Quay—5 should every Senator vote, the above is believed to be a fairly accurate statement. The list of Senators set down for repeal contains several who, as a last resort only, will vote for unas a last resort only, will vote for un-conditional repeal. Some of them would much prefer to have the bill amended, but, should they fail in this, they are said to be prepared to vote for unconditional repeal.

One of the amendments proposed provides for the coinage of bullion now in the treasury and the issuance of silver certificates therefor. PIANO AND ORGAN TUNING—THREE EXPE-riesced tuners and repairers employed: charges reasonable, special rates to clubs. FRED'K W. BLANCHARD, 108 N. Spring st.

silver certificates therefor.

Another will provide for the purchase of $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 in silver at the discretion of the Secreary of the Treasury for coinage pur poses. By the coinage of the bullion now on hand and the purchase of additional silver, the silver coinage of the United States will be between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000. It is now nearly $800,000,000. When $800,000,000 shall have been reached the coinage of silver is to cease. The financial policy of France, which has a silver circulation of $700,000,000, seems to be the model which many Senators are disposed to follow. The old Bland-Allison act is also to be introduced as an amendment, and will be about the same amendment as when And Money Wanted.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS. EXTRA SESSION.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 .- (By the Asociated Press.) There was a sharp contest in the Senate today between capital and labor, and capital won. Senator Allen, the new Populist Senator from Nebraska, attempted to secure an adjournment in honor of Labor day, and was ably seconded by Senators Peffer, Irby and others. Senator Voorhees warmly opposed the proposition, insisting that no greater compliment could be paid to labor than by proceeding at once to the consideraion of the important legislation be fore the Senate. He carried the day by vote of 41 to 8.

A joint resolution making Septemer 18 the centennial anniversary of the laying of the corner-stone of the Capitol building a holiday in Washing-ton passed as it came from the House. Senator Butler submitted an amendment to the repeal bill, removing the tax on State bank circulation, pro-vided such banks secure circulation by or approved State or municipal

Senator Gallinger introduced a bill supplemental to the pension act of June 27, 1890, providing that except in cases of established fraud, no pension shall be suspended until ninety days' notice to the pensioner shall have b given, and after full investigation on sworn testimony. It was referred to sworn testimony. It was referred to the Committee on Pensions. Sensitor Allen of Nebraska presented a resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the Senate whether that department had at any time redeemed any coin certificates in silver coin, as provided by the Sherman act; what is the coinage value of the act; what is the coinage value of the uncoined silver bullion purchased under the act; why it has not been coined as the act, requires; and as to what part, if any, of the paper money redeemed in gold, since March 4, has been canceled or otherwise witheld from circulation. The resolution was referred to the Finance Committee.

Senator Kyle offered a free coinage amendment to the repal bill, which was also referred to the Finance Committee, and the repeal bill was then taken up.
Senator Cullom of Illinois took the floor and spoke in favor of repeal. The following are some significant extraots from his speech: "I am for repeal, because, in my opinion, the government cannot afford to buy silver and coin it or issue paper on it, and call it a dollar, when, in fact, the silver in a dollar or what is deposited as security for a dollar is worth less than 60 cents. I am not a monometallist, I do not believe in the disuse of either of the two metals named in the Constitution, but the closer commercial relations of nations, which mark, the advance of civilization, make an international concurrence in the free, unlimited coinage of both metals as money more desirable, if not absolutely necessary.

"The people want silver—so do I. The people want, first of all, our circulating medium, whether gold, our circulating medium, whether gold, silver or paper, to be of equal value—so do I. The people are more interested in knowing that their money is all good, and will continue to be, than they are in knowing of what material it is made. I do not believe that if we discortinue the purchase of silver it is made. I do not believe that if we discortinue the purchase of silver bullion now it will be long before some more satisfactory plan for its use will be devised. As long as the act remains on the statute books we will surely come no nearer free coinage than we are now,

"The American people do not desire a policy toward silver, either by contuning the purchase of bullion or by a policy toward silver, either by continuing the purchase of bullion or by the adoption of free coinage, which will result in driving all the gold out of the country, making this a silver nation. This the majority will not, ought not, to submit to. Repeal does not make gold the standard of the money of the country. It is a unit of value now. It was made so by the act of 1873. The United States alone cannot, in my opinion, maintain free coinage of sil-ver unless we are willing to become a silver nation, and drive out gold. What we want is an international agreemen we want is an international agreement securing the use of both metals and free coinage on an agreed ratjo, and if we repeal the act of 1890, and stop the purchase of silver. I believe we will get it. The policy of piling up silver bullion is not wise statesmanship, and in a little time will surely be stopped. "The United States must adopt a financial policy which will do even justice between all classes and all geographical divisions; between debtors and creditors, between employers and employed. It should be borne in mind that the universal bankruptcy which hat the universal bankruptcy which has for some time threatened the has for some time threatened the country is as fetal to the creditor as to the debtor.

"There has been much said in this debate about the attitude of the two great parties as announced in their platforms. In my action I am not prompted by any political platform. I shall act as my judgment dictates is best. I will vote for repeal, because it may help to restore confidence, even though the Sherman act did not have much part in producing a lack of it."

nuch part in producing a lack of it."

The speaker attributed the present in power on the currency and tariff, and closed with an appeal for speedy Senator Mitchell of Oregon interrupted Mr. Cullom to ask whether, if the Sherman set was repealed, there was any provision by which silver could be coined. Senator Cullom replied that there was not to his knowledge.

Senator Mitchell asked what was to become of the one hundred and forty or one hundred and fifty million ounces of silver in the treasury Senator Cullom replied that the supposed party in power would devise Senator Aldrich said that repeal did not affect the power of the department to coin bullion for the redemption of treasury notes. Senator Coke Coke of Texas then obtained the floor. He said, in part: "The settle-ment of the money problem can only be brought about by the establishment of a bimetallic currency, as it existed prior to 1873. The people will never be content until the wrong of 1873, by which one-half of the money of the country was stamped out in of the other half, has been undone and reversed. If a single gold standard be stablished in America, then the Roths childs and the Bank of England, with their New York associates, will be-come the arbiters of the nation's financial policy, because they con trol the gold which the United States would have to have."

"The abandonment of silver by the United States would be its death-knell as money, except in subordinate ways and for subsidiary comage. We have no hopes," he said, "of an international agreement. The United States must depend upon itself if bimetallism is expected."

When Senator Coke concluded his

When Senator Coke concluded his speech the Senate went into executive session to consider the nomination of certain officers whose construction, Senator Berry said, was essential to Senator Berry said, was essential to carry into effect the President's proclamation, opening the Cherokee Strip on September 16. At 3:50 p.m. the Senate resumed its legislative session, and Senator Peffer's amendment to repeal the bill providing for free coinage, being the pending question, was read, preparatory to the latter adressing the Senate.

Senator Jones of Nevada moved that the Senate adjourn. On a yea and nay vote, 19 to 50, the motion was de-feated, and senator Peffer resumed the floor in advocacy of his amendment. He said that the administration cid not propose to discurs the philosophy of the finances. Phey came to Con-gress with a demand for a particular act, the repeal of the Sherman law. act, the repeat of the Sherman law.
They suggest no policy which will admit of the usual compromises in legislative proceedings. It is this or nothing. So far as it concerned the people whom he represented, they accepted the movement in the spirit in which it was given. They proposed to give no quarter.

He called attention to the fact that He called attention to the fact that a very large majority of the farmers in the South were members of the Farmers' Alliance, and one of the cardinal doctrines of the alliance is the unlimited coinage of silver at the old ratio. Senator Palmer of Illinois wanted to know what measure the Senator from Kansas proposed to secure the parity of the two metals. Senator Peffer replied that he would re-enact the old law providing for the colnage of silver at the ratio of 16

The declaration at Metz of Emperor William that he is firmly determined to maintain the peace of Europe has attracted much attention in the newspapers of France, and comments upon its significance are freely made. The Chauvinist journals declare that the welcome given to the Emperor at Metz was wanting in spontaneity, and that he reception tendered to the Prince Naples was decidedly cold.

held at Kuhns's Park, under the direc-tion of the Trade and Labor Assembly, and one at night at Ogden's Grove under the direction of the Building Trades' Council. Gov. Altgeld was on of the speakers. The Governor in his address said, referring to the present ommercial and industrial depression You are not responsible for this con-lition. Men here and in Europe, who call themesives statesmen, have in-augurated policies of which this is the natural result. Considering the increase in population, the increase in industries and the commercial activity of the world, as well as the increased area over which business is done, there has been in recent years a practical reduction in the volume of noney of the world from 33 to 40 per ent., and there had, of necessity, to follow a shrinkage in the value of property to a corresponding extent.

"If, for some years to come, there should not be sufficient blood in the industrial and commercial world to make fairs healthy, you must console your selves with the thought that our country, with all other great nations, has been placed on a narrow gold basis, and you will not be troubled with any of those cheap dollars that the big newspapers claim you do not want Combination and concentration are the masters of this age. Meeting of the Naval Association-Ex-President Harrison Addresses Two Assemblages-His Views on Pen-

By Telegraph to The Times INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4 .- (By the Associated Press.) No annual national ncampment within the history of the Grand Army of the Republic ever began more auspiciously than the twenty-seventh, which opened in this city today. Thousands upon thousands of veterans are here tonight, and still they come in trainloads. This was recep-tion day, and the efforts of the citizens were expended in greeting and bidding them welcome. The trains have been much delayed, and are tonight getting into the Union depot, so that the rush is still unabated. It is getting to be a serious question about tions for the largest host that Indianpolis ever tried to entertain.

The election of a commander-in-chief is the leading topic of discussion mong the veterans assembled here. The choice is thought to lie between Capt. J. G. B. Adams of Massachusetts and Maj. James P. Lincoln, of the Department of the Potomac, though a number of others are spoken of, including Postmaster Saxton of Chicago. The annual session of the naval vetrans was called to order this morning. A large attendance was present. miral Osborne, in the course of his address, referred feelingly to the short-age of ex-Treasurer Fortier of Buffalo and his removal from office. The executive report for the year was submitted by Capt. Sears of Baltimore, show ing general interest in the operations of the order and an increase of membership. Rear-Admiral Osborne was then re-elected president, receiving 23 votes, against 27 for Commodore Allen. At the large meeting held at Camp Wilder, in the afternoon, ex-President Harrison addressed his old comrades. He spoke of the struggle and trials of the soldiers in the war, and said: "If there is any man here who does not love the Union veteran he does not belong in Indiana. You will go back," said he, "from this meeting to pick up the duties of your citizenship with a higher sense of those duties, of the glory of this flag, than you had be-fore you came here to mingle with those comrades, to listen to those stirring songs, and stir each other by remembrance of those bloody days. The citizens' executive board gave a reception to the G.A.R. and invited guests at Tomlinson's Hall to-About eight thousan were present. The prominent sp were ex-President Harrison and Commander-in-Chief Weissert. When Gen. Harrison rose to speak, he was greeted with a tremendous outburst of

Applause.,
He spoke words of welcome to the Grand Army, and said: "I look into the faces of men tonight who have shed their blood and lost their limbs and walked among us maimed and dismembered in order that our country's flag might be untarnished. Can it be possible that while the survivors of a possible that while the survivors of a great seruggle are still with us, while they walk our streets, a generation has come on forgetful of their great achievements? Has the moth of avarice, the canker of greed so entered into the hearts of this generation that they are unmindful of these men? God

"The American soldier of the Civil War." said Gen. Harrison, "has not been greedy. He was not tempted to service by his monthly stipend. The men who went to the front were not impelled by sordid purposes, and, when the war was over, their thought was not dependence upon the government, but upon their own right arm. Every boy who had been spared in the strug-gle, was anxious to be again at the plow, at the shop, in the office to take up again the work he had laid down that his country might live. As long as Ged gave him strength of arm, he fought and ate the bread of independ-ence. Only when he became the vetence. Only when he became eran of time did he turn a hopeful eye eran of the government for relief. The toward the government for relief. Grand Army has rightfully claimed that the men who fell by the way in the battle of life from disease or advancing years, and lost the capacity to maintain themselves, should be cared for by the nation they saved, and not be dependent upon the township poor-farm.

"When Congress, in generous recognition of the rightful claims of the soldier, has passed a law for his bene-fit, we may and will demand that it nt, we may and will demand that it be beneficially construed in his belialf. It is a familiar maxim of law that remedial legislation is to have favor-able interpretation in the interest of the evils to be remedied. Secondly, we may and do insist that in the ad-ministration of the law the soldier. we may and do insist that in the administration of the law the soldier's integrity and honor shall not be wantonly impeached. (Cheers.) He will not ask that any who have fraudulently obtained a place upon the pension rolls shall remain there. He will ask that the other familiar maxim of the law that fraud is to be proven and not presumed, shall be applied to the soldiers. (Appliause.) This is a general principle, and I can't go into details, which must, I think, be acceptable to every right-thinking, patriotic man. [SPORTING RECORD.]

A Dutchman's Insurance.

A certain Dutchman, owner of a small house, says the Newcastle (England) Chronicle, had effected an insurance on it of 1800, although it had been built for much less. The house got burnt down, and the Dutchman then claimed the full amount for which it had been insured; but the officers of the company refused to pay more than its actual value—about 1600. He expressed his dissatisfaction in powerful broken English, interlarding his remarks with some choice Tcutonic oaths. "If you wish it," said the actuary of the insurance company, "we will build you a house larger and better than the house burned down, as we are positive it can be done for even less than 1600." To this proposition the Dutchman objected, and at last was compelled to take the 1600.

Some weeks after he had received the money, he was called upon by the same agent, who wanted him to take out a policy of life insurance on himself or on his wife. "If you insure your wife's life for £2000," the agent said, "and she should die, you would have the sum to solace your heart." "Dat be hang," exclaimed the Dutchman: "You 'surance fellows ish all tiefs! If I insure my vife, and my vife dies, and if I goes to de office to get my £2000, do I gits all the money? No, not quite. Senator Peffer replied that it would; that it had always done so before. It was time, he said, that the partnership existing between the government of the United States and the speculators in Wall street was dissolved. The leaders of the Democratic party were pursuing precisely the same course as the leaders of the Republican party, and that there is a bright, young, vigorous party upon the map of politics which is ready to strike hands with the men of all parties to make a fight for silver. The members of that party care not whether it is called the Populist or National party, or what it is called, but there is coming a union of hearts and hands upon this great question, and that in the very near future. In a lecture which he had delivered in this city before he had taken the oath of office as Senator, he had predicted that both great parties would soon be under the leadership of Grover Cleveland. They were there now.

FOR A NEW BILL.

The Ways and Means Committee Commence the Tariff Hearings. WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(By the Associated Press.) Today opened the hearings by the Ways and Means Committee of the representatives of protected industries, preparatory to the framing of a new tariff bill. only persons present were representatives of the potato and onion-growers of the Bermuda Islands, who asked a reduction in duties on these articles on the ground that they are almost prohibitive; that these products do not compete with the native products, com ing in before the latter, and because Bermuda buys from the United States much more than it sells. Later on an importer grapes appeared and asked for a reduction to the specific duty of 25 cents per barrel. These grapes, he said, grow nowhere else in the world, though a grape of a similar kind is grown in California. The difficulty is that the California grape does not keep well, so that in the months of January and February, the Malaga grape is the only grape on sale in this country. About two hundred and fifty thousand barrels of these grapes are annually imported. The revenue amounts to $150,000.

The importer said he did not advofifty cate placing these grapes on the free ilst, as he believed these importations should pay a fair and equitable trib-ute to this country. Were grapes put on the free list, however, he did not think the domestic product would suf-fer. If the duty was reduced, or the grapes were placed on the free list, the importation would increase to 400,000 barrels. Were the importation 400,000 barrels. Were the importation to increce to this point, the price per barrel would decrease 50 cents, on ac-count of the larger supply, and the grapes would be placed within the reach of many people now debarred. He denied that the retail price of these grapes had ruled lower since the pas-sage of the McKinley law.

The committee then adjourned until tomorrow, when representatives of the cement trade and silk culture will have a hearing.

GLASS MUST GO.

Democrats Claim They Have "Everything Fixed,"

Resolution Prepared to Be Introduced i the Council This Morning Disrupting the Present Police Commission.

If there is no hitch in the programme, a resolution will be presented at the meeting of the City Council this morning, declaring the offices of Messrs. Bradish and Bosbyshell as pobe a preliminary step toward the re-moval of Chief Glass and the "reormoval of Chief Glass and the Treorganization" of the police department.

For some days past the Democratic City Central Committee has been quietly at work, and this time they claim to have the matter "cinched" beyond any chance of failure. Mayor Rowan and Councilman Nickell, it is Rowan and Councilman Nickell, it is claimed, have healed their differences, and it is also alleged that Councilman Strohm has yielded to the pressure of the saloon element and gone into the Democratic camp, at least on the liquor question, the pretext for his action being the recent rule adopted in regard to closing side entrances and taking out back rooms and booths.

A resolution has been prepared by the Democratic City Central Committee, which, after recting that Messrs. Bradish and Boebyshell do not represent the Democratic party, declares their positions vacant, a blank being left for the insertion of the names of their successors. It is claimed that a list of fifteen names has been given the Democratic members of the Council with Mr. Strohm, from which to select the two commissioners. It is further claimed that each of these fifteen as the sales of the council with Mr. Strohm, from which to select the two commissioners. It is further claimed that each of these fifteen as the sales of the text. cil with Mr. Strohm, from which to se-lect the two commissioners. It is further claimed that each of these fif-teen men is pledged to vote for the re-moval of Chief Glass, that being the test, those approached who would not those approached who weribe to it, as in the case test, those approached who would not subscribe to it, as in the case of William Pridham, being informed that they could not be considered.

The above is the programme as it has been arranged, and if Strohm has "failen down," as is alleged, the Republican members are powerless to help themselves. It is true that similar programmes have been arranged before, but in the present case the Democrats are more confident than ever, and say this time they cannot fail. No charges are preferred against Chief Glass beyond the fact that he does his duty, but the burden of the complaint of the machine Democrats is that "Glass must go."

There is considerable curiosity to see who will introduce the machine resolution, and the Council chamber will probably be crowded when the proceedings commence this morning.

DID NOT FIGHT.

Mi II Which Did Not Come Off Last There was to have been a prize fight in the pavilion at the City Garstated that the "cat had leaked," and that the police were posted. One long-headed individual then suggested that as the grand jury was in session, and there was a prospect of the whole party being indicted, it would be better to postpone the fight and change the location. This was agreed to, and the party dispersed. It is understoed that the men agreed to meet within the next two days.

A ROAD SUGGESTION.

A ROAD SUGGESTION.

One Way for the Government to Utilize the Army of Unempt.yed.

A correspondent suggests the following in a communication to the New York Herald: Cannot Congress stretch a boint and place the control of highways in the hands of the Federal government, either for possible strategic purposes or purposes of interstate commerce? It would then be comparatively easy to find work for many of the unemployed in building roads where most needed, and as in that case the work would be done under supervision of the United States Corps of Engineers, uniformity and economy would be obtained.

Our roads are, generally speaking, a

Our roads are, generally speaking, a bword and a reproach, and their badness cannot be excelled in the civilized portion of the world, except by those of some of the South American republics. The States benefited might be made to bear a certain proportion of the expenses, and could such a plan be carried out we would not only relieve much of the distress, preventing possibly starvation riots, but give good roads to a country sorely in need of them.

A Democratic Reminiscence. (Quincy Whig:) "Have you ever seen times like these?" said one Demo-crat to another. "Yes; in '57, when we were in before," was the reply.

Wishes to communicate with parties of capital desirous of being connected with one of the largest hotel enterprises on the Pavific Coast, controlling the hotel and cafe business of what is and is to be one of the grandest mountain resorts on this continent, on the line of "Mount Lowe Railway."

The wealth of Switzeriand is due to the entertainment of visitors to the Swiss Alps, where the largest hotels/are to be found. Pasadena's Italy and Alps combined will surpass them all, as we have twelve months for business to Switzeriand's three, and will insure better returns than any other investment on the

The long-talked-of excursion to the Clerks Enforced Holldays.

The long-talked-of excursion to the World's Fair, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of this city, started for Chicago at 1:30 p.m. yesterday from La Grande station of the Santa Fe. The special train of five of the finest Pullman palace cars and one baggage car, with a commissary department, all vestibuled, carried away over 150 representative citizens of Loss partment, all vestibuled, carried away over 150 representative citizens of Los Angeles. A large crowd of friends were at the station to bid good-by to the departing tourists, and all were in a happy frame of mind. Mr. Day was to act as personal conductor until the train was met by Passenger Agent Van Slack of the Atlantic and Pacific, who will escort the party to Albuquerthe train was met by Passenger Agent Van Slack of the Atlantic and Pacific, who will escort the party to Albuquerque, whence Passenger Agent Morehouse will travel with it to Chicago. The train was cheered as it moved away from La Grande station. The cars bore no extra decoration, but on the rear sleeper was a huge banner reading: "World's Fair. Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Special Train." The tourists carried refreshments, fruits and flowers in sections and staterooms, and bore with them ten new and handsome banners which were made to replace the old ones of the chamber. They were well prepared for crossing the desert, and probably felt prepared for all the fun anticipated in the trip going and coming.

This, with the rate from the Missouri River to Chicago ($14.50) added, will make the through rate to Chicago and return $79.50. The new rate is still higher than the California lines were permitted to make. The regular rate of onethan the California lines were permitted to make. The regular rate of onefare for the round trip plus $2 would requested the Western Passenger Association to grant a rate of one fare for the round trip for the Midwinter Fair at San Francisco, but the roads declined to grant the request. There is no reason why lower rates should be granted by the Eastern lines to the San Francisco, fair than the Pacific Coast roads would make for the World's Fair at Chicago."

Two trains of nine and eight cars respectively carried the workmen's excursion to Redondo yesterday. John L. Tsuslow, commercial agent for the Santa Fe at Santa Barbara, was at Los Angeles headquarters yes-terday.

It is announced that hereafter way of Lathrop and Sacramento, and were required to pay $4 or $5 for a side trip to San Francisco.

T. H. Duzan, agent for the Burlington in this city, has been the proudest man in Los Angeles since yesterday, when he learned he has become a grandfather. Most of his friends will not believe Mr. Duzan is old enough to be a grandfather, but it is a fact that a baby girl was yesterday born to the wife of his son W. E. Duzan at Auburn, this State. The grandmother of the new arrival departed for the North last evening, while "grandpa" stays here to receive congratulations. A plan has been evolved and partially put into execution whereby the Southern Pacific Company will save the wages of forty and odd inten employed in clerical work at the San Francisco offices. Each man is to be laid off two days every month. By this method it is thought the company may not be put to the necessity of further reduction of force in the office building. As there are some six hundred and fifty men in the various departments, the saving in days for one month amounts to 1300. This would be equivalent to the combined wages of forty-three men for one month.

The San Francisco Chronicle of Sunday said: "Trouble is apprenented along the Union Pacific twing to the recent cut in wages of emplayees. A private dispatch from Ogden's stated that the employees were in a rather reckless state of mind, and might do something desperate. First the Union Pacific delayed the regular pay day. Then the shopmen were put on haif time, and the working force reduced as low as possible. Unially a cut of 10 per cent, was made in salaries and wages all around. This has caused great discontent and distress among the employees, who feel that they are being squeezed to pay interest on bonds."

A Demand for Higher Tariff. (Fresno Republican:) The tariff on raisins is too low. It leaves the California grower at a disadvantage compared to the foreign producer. The cost of transportation to the principal markets is materially less for the Spanish grower, and the cost of his labor is less than one-third of that paid by the California grower. These differences should be equalized by the tariff. The duty on raisins should not be less than 8 cents per pound—finder present conditions 4 cents would not be too much. Zante currants should also pay a duty of not less than 8 cents a pound in order to promote the home produca duty of not less than 2 cents a pound in order to promote the home production of seedless raisins, which can be produced as cheaply as the currants, barring the difference in cost of labor and transportation. There is not the shadow of excuse for lowering the tariffion raisins in order to prevent extortionate prices. Home production has now reached that stage that its own competition will keep prices close to the cost MASSAGE—

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,

Lobor day interfered somewhat with trading in New York and Chicago. The Mark Lane Express of London says that the latest extimates confirm the report that 6,500,000 quarters will be the utmost wheat production of the United Kingdom.
New English wheat fetches more than old wheat. Foth are in the finest condition. The fereign market has recovered slightly since Wednesday, on the expectation that the final defeat of the silver men in Cergress will be followed by tightness in holding the American crop of 1893. This expectation, the Express thinks, is rather short-sighted.

The article continues: "The comparison of grain prices on Friday, the first day of the cereal year, with those of 1891 and 1892, shows a decline in the last year of 5 shillings in California and 6 shillings in red winter wheat, and a decline in the last two years of 17 in California

Cottonserd Oil. R. C. Gough writes as follows from

Forsyth, Ga., to the San Francisco Ex-

"In your trade issue for 1893 in the article on olives occurs the following paragraph: 'A great effort has been made in the past few years to conv.ace the public that the oil of cottonseed is, even if very unpalatable, at least cheap and innocuous. A German claiming scientific knowledge has even declared scientific knowledge has even declared it in every way superior to ollve oil as food and medicine. The fact is, however, quite the contrary, as experienced physicians of our Southern States testify, and the deadly effects of cotton-seed meal on sheep and dairy dattle are a matter of very careful and scientific record.

"I have been living near a cotton-seed oil mill ever since the industry was begun, have been using both the oil and meal for years, but never heard such a charge before. That 'record' must be bogus, at least the 'scientific' part. The absence of cottoneed must part. The absence of cottonseed meal from the feed of dairy cattle and sheep has been far more deadly than the quantities they have eaten. I never knew it was accused of being 'unpalatable.' The 'testimony' of those Southern physicians must be a fraud. We never heard of it down here.

"I have nothing to say against olive oil. There is room for it "thave nothing to say against olive oil. There is room for it, and long use and the prejudices of some people will always make a demand for it. But it is possible to do justice to olive oil without disparaging cottonseed oil. I have used the latter for years without any bad results, and like it. The employees of the various mills use it almost exclusively as a substitute for pork and lard, and say it is cheaper, healthier and more palatable. I have used the 'meal' and hulls for years in feeding dairy and and hulls for years in feeding dairy and other cattle and sheep, with entire satisfaction to myself and stock. In fact, of all the food I have seen given to cattle, there is none they eat with so much greed and voracity as a mixture of cot-tonseed meal and hulls. I fed my sheep exclusively on it last winter with the best results I everhad. The experience of others is in harmony with my own. Lawe's and Gilbert's testimony in favor of the meal as feed for cattle and ma-nure is famous. I have been a careful and extensive reader, trying, though a a farmer, to keep step with the progress of the age, but I have never seen testimony of Southern physicians against the wholesomeness of cottonseed oil. It is ture many Southern people have a prejudice against it as an article have a prejudice against it as an article of food, but that is fast giving way. So they have against olive oil. Physicians, chemists and others say it is better and healthler than the lard we get from Chicago and other pork-packing centers. It is largely mixed with lard, and doubtless lard is improved by the and concless and is improved by the mixture. So rapidly is it making its way in the markets of the country, that the hog-raisers have been trying to en-list the aid of the government to force their measly lard and pork on consum-

I would not have noticed the charge had it not come from so respectable a source. California can afford to able a source. California can afford to be just. Indeed, with her unparalleled resources she can afford to be magnani-mously generous. Her prosperity has been a world's wonder. Her future is

It is adding another—a large and wholesome—supply to the stock of human food. It is a benefaction. As an industry it is to the farmer only an incident, but it is becoming a very important one. Every year increases its importance, extends its use, and strengthens its hold on the affections of the people. It is too late to attempt to dislodge it. It asks no favors from legislation, only an equal chance in a free market, according to the law of supply and demand among competing commodities.

I have no interest in the manufacture or sale of cottonseed oil or meal, but am only a farmer who has used them and know whereof I speak." Summer Treatment of Apricots.

A writer in the Pomona Progress says he has seen this year several apricothe has seen this year several apricot-growers, whose orchards were allowed to grow to weeds about half the year and not intelligently cared for the other half, hauling their apricots from one fruit-buyer to another, trying to find some one who would take them. The prices for apricots have not been high this year yet those who took good find some one who would take them. The prices for apricots have not been high this year, yet those who took good care of their orchards and had nice fruit and a good yield made money. The writer is a strong advecate of summer pruning and a copious irrigation immediately afterward. He says: "It is a waste of fruit and money to allow trees to consume their strength forming thousands of buds that are of no use. The branches may afterward be cut off, but the mischief has been done; the strength of the tree has been wasted. Apricot trees should be pruned as soon after the crop has been gathered as possible. If it has not been done already this year it should be done at once. Then the trees should have one good irrigation right away. It helps to tone 'up' the trees and give them vigor for the formation of strong and healthy buds. Some trim their trees and let the irrigating go for a month or two. They do it whenever it happens to be convenient, and care for their orchards all the time on that plan, and never raise good fruit." This is sound decrine in regions of high aumand never raise good fruit." This is sound doctrine in regions of high summer heat, where the trees make heavy early growth and need irrigation to flaish up the season with.

Work for the Unemployed. At the joint session of the City Council and Park Commission yesterday, to consider the proposed issue of park improvement bonds, an impresappeared to be prevalent that the work was only to be given out for the sake of furnishing employment to men who are out of a job. This is not idea at all. The proposition is to give out work now that would be done In any case in the near future. At the same time, it can be provided for that the money expendel goes as far as possible in the line of permanent improvements. The citizens would natrally not care to vote money merely see a workmen's camp established and a few roads graded which might be made over later on. It would be true economy, in case the bonds are voted, to engage a first-class landscape gardener, and map out a definite plan for future action. There taxpayers who would not vote for the bonds, provided they are as-

The objection that large numbers of the unemployed from other sections may be attracted to Los Angeles is easily obviated. Provision can be made employment is given by preference to those who are residents of sured that the money will be well ex-

It may be true that it will take some time to get this work in operation, but it will take longer if we do not start now, and in the mean time there is other necessary work that can be undertaken to furnish work to unemployed.

This is not an eleemosynary enterprise, but one of policy, as well as justice. It should be the proud boast of Los Angeles that none of her cit-izens seek in vain for work. Nor is there any reason that they should do Apart from municipal improvements, there is every encouragement for individuals to undertake building and other enterprises at the present time. Never since the boom has there such a demand for houses to rent as at present. Labor and material cheap. Viewed from any standpoint, therefore, whether of humanitarianism or profit, the motion to make improvements at the present is a good one, and should pre-

Co-operation vs. Overproduction.

Reference was made in our agricultural department recently to the fact that some of the orange-growers in the San Gabriel Valley are feeding second-class fruit. comes a report from Fresno that the Cudahy Packing Company of Omaha has offered to advance money to rewith which to purchase hogs to eat the raisin crop on the vines. By this means there need be no money raised to pay labor expenses for curing the raisins, and the unsettled condition of the raisin market makes it necessary that no chance be taken by the grower Several vineyardists are reported to have accepted this plan of disposing of their raisins, and many more will be tikely to do the same.

Eastern people are becoming accustomed to all sorts of peculiar things in California, but they will get another surprise when they learn that the Golden State is raising hogs on oranges and raisin grapes.

For the benefit of those who may be inclined to draw conclusions from these items, which will doubtless run the gamut of the Eastern press. It should be remarked that it is a mistake to suppose that either oranges or raisins are without value in Caliour vineyards and orange groves into hog ranches. First-class oranges will slways find a market at a fair price, and the difficulty in the raisin market this year is mainly due to the difficulty experienced by growers in bbtaining money to move the crop. It is true that the immediate outlook for our fruit-growers is not very brilliant, but those who rush to the con-clusion that the production is overone are badly mistaken. It is not a question of over-production so much of inability to place the product in the hands of the consumers at a reaable advance over the cost of pro-difficulty lies in co-operation on the part of growers. A brilliant example what may be done in this manner furnished by the Santa Clara aty Fruit Exchange. There are There are and before it is a year older it will practically include in its membership ery grower in the county. The folprices here and elsewhere shows at has been accomplished, the state-nt being compiled from a thorough stem of correspondence:

"The present price for prunes, which e not yet dried, is 5 cents per pound the dars, for the four sizes, which equivalent to about 5% cents for set of the orchards in this valley, the are likely to average sixtles or h are likely to average sixtles or tites. The orchards of green e averaging sixtles or seventies bring the owners 5% cents, he cost of seiling, which is the thent of about $37.50 per green is $25, and in the southern counties $21, and the extra price received in Santa Clara county is largely the result of the work of the exchange and kindred organizations. If the output is 27,000,000 pounds, the gain will figure up about $250,000 for this valley."

These figures are more than any remarks of ours 'could' be On the one hand, by means of co-operation, the growers of Santa Clara county are getting $37.50 per ton for their prunes, while the Los Angeles county, working each for Growers of deciduous fruits in Southern California should imitate the orange-growers, and organize for their own protection. The raising of deciduous fruits in this section will soon assume an importance second only to the orange industry.

The "Write-up."

It is to be anticipated that, with the advent of the Midwinter Fair, the leading newspapers of San Francisco will emissaries throughout the length and breadth of the State to solicit 'write-ups" for their special editions, which undoubtedly will be of mammoth proportions, and will literally carry great weight.

this is very legitimate and All proper, but citizens of the "interior," as, likewise of the "cow counties," fore they commit themselves to any particular method of advertising, should weigh calmly the merits and demerits of the various systems which are presented for their approval. Advertising is not-or should not be-a question of sentiment, but of hard, cold facts. The business man pays out his dollar for notoriety when he has reasonable ground to expect that he may receive two or more dollars in return

Now, when a great metropolitan journal, published in the metropolis of the State, sends a young man out to "write up" a section of the State, what is his object? To get "all there is in of course. As Chesterfield said, in his celebrated letters to his son, which were at one time commended for youthful reading: "Get money, my son; get it honestly if you can, but get money!" That is the motto of the met ropolitan "write up" agent, only he skips all but the last two words. He knows nothing and cares less about the section which he is hired to (mis)represent. The prominent citizen with a grievance (and a pocketful of cigars,) or the "whole-souled, genial gentle man," with an aspiration for the office of deputy-asistant-levee-inspector, is naturally a bigger factor in the eyes of this literary emissary than the most important public improvement, which has no object in being typographically "boosted" into the fame

taches to a big headline. Meantime, the "puff," written to orer, is buried in the is scarcely glanced at by the average reader. It carries upon its forehead the mark of the beast—the "paid writeup"-which even the ordinary reader is beginning to understand-and avoid. Would it not be far more profitable for business men to contribute a reasonable amount to the leading papers of the section in which they reside in order to assist those papers in get ting out a full and correct description of their respective regions, written from the standpoint of an insider, who has the interest of the section at heart? Is not such an advertisement likely to accomplish far more good to the section in general, and to each individual business man in particular, than a paid "write-up" in an outside journal? Such papers can be deposited at the fair, and by aid of a small contribution from citizens can be mailed in large numbers to friends of all who visit there. If notoriety in the San Francisco dailies is desired that can be far better attained by means of an advertisement of moderate size, inserted occasionally in the ordinary issues, than by a "write-up" buried in mammoth number composed chiefly of similar paid matter which few read

Topolobampo.

We have received a long communica tion from J. H. Dempsey, who disapproves our recent statement that th Topolobampo colony is a dismal failure. Mr. Dempsey encloses a report from an American authority on th colony, which gives a roseate description of the state of affairs existing there. Our correspondent concludes his article by requesting its publication in our paper to "correct any sentiments of the people that are derogative to the cause of integral co-operation.' With all due respect to Mr. Dempsey and the cause of integral co-operation for which we entertain a great respect, we must repeat our assertion that from the reliable pformation which we have been able to obtain we believe this colony enterprise to be a dismal failure as far as comfort and happiness are concerned to those who are not under the immediate patronage of this man Owen, or of the gang which runs things at the colony. When we said that this enterprise was a dismal failure, we did not intend to convey fallure, we did not intend to convey the impression that good and profitable crops may not be raised there. Many an Eastern cotton plantation before the war was a brilliant success, but none the less the life of a slave on those plantations was a dismal failure. Soven years ago a number of gentlemen and ladies organized in Los Ange les for the purpose of making up a company to go and settle at Topolo-bampo. Meetings were held every week, and the proceedings were fully reported in The Times. After careful investigation, it was decided that the character of the management of the Mexican enterprise was not such as would inspire confidence, and the project was abandoned in favor of a settlement at Clearwater, in this county. We are not aware that there has been any change in the management of this enterprise or its character since that time, although we are pleased to learn that the colonists are now raising some crops and do not run much risk of absolute starvation.

It is only a few days since we wrote, e length on the subject of cooperative colonies, while referring to a new enterprise in Kern county, As we then stated, the co-operative system is a most excellent and beneficial one, provided it is carried out in a practical, business-like manner, and that each colonist is an independent factor apart from the main co-operative features of the enterprise, such chimeras as the Kaweah and Topolobampo schemes have always proven human nature approaches much nearer to the point of perfection than it has reached at present. The only instance in which such theoretical aspirations have proved measurably suc-cessful have been in the case of men and women bound together by a strong tie of fervid religious belief, and even in such cases dissension and disruption have been the rule rather than the ex-

The law is regarded by most officers as an absurdity, and an injustice as well. years ought to be worth more as soldiers than are raw recruits. Besides, previous laws allowed soldiers who had served thirty years to retire to the Soldiers' Home during the remainder of their lives. The enlistment of most soldiers in recent years was made under this condition, and, as it has been made impossible, the soldiers may justly think the contract with then has been violated by the government Enlisted men should certainly have all the rights promised them when they

A commission merchant of San Antonio, Tex., has received an order to purchase 200,000 pounds of mesquite eans for export to Germany. It is said the German government is pur-chasing the beans to experiment in feeding them to the cavalry horses of the German army. Forage is very scarce and dear at this time in Germany, and fame of the nutritious m bean has reached the empire. It is be lieved these beans can be gathered here exported profitably to Germany, and if so, it will open up a new industry. The mesquite bean grows plentifully upon the mesas of Arizona where it is gathered by the Indians and pounded up into meal from which cakes are made. There are few sec-tions of the United States which cannot grow something that can be profitably marketed in Europe.

This would be a good time for the government to get rid of some of its expensive supernumeraries—for a time at least. There's plenty of room—for retrenchment-at the top.

Los Angeles is all right and the envy of many other less favored communi-ties. A little public spirit is all that is needed to keep her there.

It appears that the Geary act is gun that wasn't loaded. Hence th Chinese can't go off.

[AMUSEMENT RECORD.] AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATER.—Those who saw "Jane" as presented by last year's company and attended the opening performance of the comedy last night in a critical mood went away more than convinced that Jennie Yeamans in the title role portrayed the character according to the popular conception with more exactness and attention to detail than any who have attempted it before her.

Others have made Jane as a servant girl typical while in that capacity, but when she appears as the wife of Charles Shakelton, have, in the transformation, produced particularly highbred airs, accompanied by graces which the servant girl could hardly have been thought to be able to acquire on so short a notice.

With Jennie Yeamans it is all different. While appearing admirably as the wife of Shakelton she carries with her the instinctive leaning to her servant girl tendencies. In short, the ac-ferent. While appearing admirably as the wife of Shakelton she carries with her the instinctive leaning to her servant girl tendencies. In short, the accomplished actress shows itself in her every move and turn.

The support is also particularly good. Adolph Jackson as Charles Shakelton furnishes a refreshing interpretation of his part, and Joseph Allen as Mr. Kershaw is inimitable. Alf Fisher makes a good William, and the other players group about in their respective characters with an effect that could hardly be improved upon.

The piece last night was preceded by the one-act comedictia "Chums," which paved the way for the first-producing treat to follow.

The house was well filled, and it is a safe assertion to venture that no more delighted audience ever listened to Frohman's farce-comedy than that assembled last night in the popular theater.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.-For th next two nights "Jane" will hold the boards at the Los Angeles Theater, making way on Thursday evening for boards at the Los Angeles Theater, making way on Thursday evening for "The Rivais," to be presented by the Old Comedy Company, under direction of Al Hayman, and on the Monday following "The Girl I Left Behind Me" will come. This production was selected for the opening of the Empire Theater, New York, where it ran 200 sights, after which it ran at the Schiller Theater, Chicago, for 150 nights. San Francisco was the third city of its presentation for four weeks, from which place it came direct to Los Angeles. All the scenic environment and details which have distinguished it presentation in New York and Chicago will be seen here.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" is a frontier play, and has not only gained extremely fashionable favor, but is visited by many military men, who are interested by its absolutely correct representation of affairs at an army outpost on an will an reservation.

Work the Unemployed.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4, 1893.—(To the Editor of The Times.) A have read with pleasure the several articles in your valuable paper, in the last three days, touching on the serious subject of the army of unemployed men in the city. Kindly allow me, as one of that class, to state a few ideas which the articles have suggested.

Let the United States Supreme Court decide at once whether any laws enacted by Congress, tending to restrict immigration of the objectionable class of foreigners would be constitutional. If not, God help us!

Your suggestions as to public as well as private work are all good. "Employment for those who need it is the pressing duty of the hour." Very true! Let me suggest how to bring this about. There are plenty of ide halls here, and even an operahouse. Let a meeting be called at once of all good citizens in favor of putting all idle men to work. Let your prominent citizens speak on the subject and arouse the sympathy of the people. Let those present, then and there, start the, movement at once toward remedying the present condition.

I feel that I can speak for the large majority of idle men here when I say honest work, at once, is what is wanted. Charity, to an able-bodied man is repulsive in its very suggestion, though it might be accepted for a time by some in straitened circumstances. Thank God, I don't want it!

Take your "Justice," as you picture her, and let her stand for the people. If the people do their duty now they need have no fear but what "honest labor" will stand by them. Thus there will be no danger of the monster "anarchy" showing himself, or incendiarism either.

I will not take up your valuable space by commenting on the subjects

The Orcus Chalybeus—State Quarantine Officer Craw Speaks.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(To the Editor of The Times.) On my return from San Diego yesterday I noticed an article in your issue of the 2d inst.
signed "Orcus." Mr. Collins of Ontario evidently saw an opportunity foranother attach on B. M. Leiong, and made it in a very ungentlemanly and uncalled-for manner. That there has been an unpleasantness existing between Mr. Lelong and Mr. Collins for some time past has been known to the nespaper readers of Southern California. What brought this about need not be referred to at present. The State Board of Horticulture is not responsible for the newspaper articles that have appeared in regard to the recently/imported beneficial insects.
Anything official has been over my name, and in no instance have I advised the abandonment of artificial means to check the red scale (aspidiotus aurantil.) While I am somewhat disappointed at the condition of the orcus chalybeus, they are still making a healthy increase, but I have never stated that they "propagate too slowly to exterminate the red scale or even to reduce its numbers to any great extent," for I am satisfied that they will to exterminate the red scale or even to reduce its numbers to any great extent," for I am satisfied that they will ultimately accomplish the much-to-be-desired result. Mr. Collins says, "We hope the same disappointing results may not attend the rhizobius." As I have carefully examined the workings of this lady-bird and my report has been made, I will abide by it, for I am confident that Prof. Koebele has again given to the fruit-growers of California an insect that will add as much luster to his name as did the vedalia. This black lady-bird is an enemy of the black scale, and Mr. Cooper, who succeeded in breeding them—although they were also sent to another party—will distribute them to different parts of the State now to another party—will distribute them to different parts of the State now afflicted with the black scale. This work will be attended to within two weeks. But the announcement should not prevent a continuance of the attempt to stop the spread of this old pest of the olive and orange. I recollect that Mr. Collins, nearly three years ago, declared my bulletin on the parasite of the yellow scale to be premature or uncalled for, and that it interfered with the official orders to clean up. I would like to know if fumigation or spraying would have accomplished the same result in the or-

I make these statements simply to show that the State Board of Horticulture is pursuing the proper course in the fight against injurious insects, that is, to find the beneficial ones and advocate artificial means until we succeed.

The statement that the State board was more interested in the northern portion of the State has been made simply for effect. The board introduced the bills appropriating funds for the benefit of the Southern counties in

LEGAL SPOILS.

Class Legislation in Favor of Attorneys

The "Law Library Fund" Act Which Exacts
One Dollar Extra Costs to Furnish Mental Stimulus for Lawyers.

In this time of economy and retrench-ment, every little item of unnecessary expense is being pruned and lopped off by private employers and corporations But the emoluments, salaries, fees and other little perquisites of public ser-vants, fixed by law in times of highest prosperity, still go on at the old rates, and the poor litigant, primarily, and taxpayer, in general, have to pay the piper.

A gentleman who has recently instithe piper.

A gentleman who has recently instituted a small law suit in the Supeiror Court of this county, yesterday, called a reporter's attention to the fact that in his bill of costs was the item, "il for law library fund." He denounced this as a most flagrant piece of class legislation, and wanted to know why, on the same reasoning, litigants did not also have to contribute it each toward the maintenance of a medical library, or libraries for the exclusive benefit of architects, civil engineers, and even carpenters and machinists.

At first it seemed almost incredible that in addition to the usual heavy expense incident to litigation, an extra dollar was thus legally exacted from those unfortunate enough to go to law. But a perusal of the statutes shows that this is done under authority of an act to establish law libraries, approved March 31, 1891.

There is no getting around the law; it is as plain as lawyers in the Legislature working for their own advantage can make it. The dollar must be paid, and provisions are made for the keeping of a separate "library fund account" by both the county clerk and treasurer.

On the commencement in, or re-account" by both the county clerk and treasurer.

On the commencement in, or removal to, the Superior Court of any county in this State, in any civil action, proceeding or appeal, the party instituting such proceeding, or filing said first papers, shall pay to the Clerk of said court the sum of $1, as costs, for a fund to be known as a law library fund, and to be expended in the purchase of law books and periodicals, and to be under the direction of a board of trustees. These are the explicit terms in which this piece of class legislation is framed.

Another section of this act compels the Board of Supervisors to provide a room for the books and periodicals thus taken from the pockets of littgants. A sop is thrown to the public in a section of the law which orders that said library shall be free to the judiciary and county officials, without payment of dues, and free (?) to all inhabclary and county officials, without pay-ment of dues, and free (?) to all inhab-itants of the county in which the li-brary is located, on payment of such dues as may be ordained by the board of trustees.

The reporter interviewed several prominent attorneys on the subject, and all said that it was a shame that and all said that it was a shame that the law should compel them to appear as almoners of unfortunate litigants. A law library was a good thing, but the attorneys who wished to avail themselves of the benefits were well able to afford the small pro rata required to support such an institution. There was no necessity for this picayunish bleeding of litigants.

There was no recessity for this picayunish bleeding of litigants.
The general impression was that the law had been originally passed by the "Legislature of a thousand scandals," with the purpose of providing places as librarians for a number of brokendown attorneys all over the State. At any rate these law libraries are not much used, and, if a necessity, they should be supported by the lawyers themselves, and not by forced outside contributions.

A gentleman who has retired from the practice of law, and is now engaged in mercantile pursuits, said it was just such things as these that brought the profession into disrepute.
The ordinary citizen looks upon an attorney as something akin to a highway robber, and this opinion generally remains unchanged after he goes through a law suit. It is easy enough to get such laws passed through a legislature composed mostly of attorneys, but, one of these days, the gentleman predicted, a legislature of business men and farmers would be elected, and these legalized forms of extortion would be wiped off the statute books.
At any rate, he said, this piece of class legislation should be repealed at the very next session of the Legislature.

legislation should be repealed at the very next session of the Legislature.

The Only Negro in Congress.

No member of the new House has attracted more attention than George Washington Murray, the black Representative of the black district (the Seventh) of South Carolina. He is not only the only man of color in Congress, but he is the first real African who has been there for years, O'Hara of North Carolina and the other colored men who have, served in the House in recent years being almost white. But coal would make a mark on Mr. Murray's face, which is, however, quite as intelligent and quite as good-looking in every way as those of his predecessors. Mr. Murray, who is one of the tallest men in Congress, makes himself look taller by wearing long, black broadcloth coats over light-colored vest and trousers.

He has prepared his autobiography for the new Congressional Record in a unique manner. This is the opening paragraph: "George Washington Murray was born September 22, 1853, of slave parents, near Rembert, Sumter county, S. C.; emancipation found him a lad of 11 summers, bereft of both parents, thrown upon the rugged shores of early emancipation, after a cruel and dehumanizing war had deprived the population of almost all the finer sensibilities of human sympathy and philanthropy, without a friend upon whom to rely for either aid or advice.

The fact that Redlands citizens had demanded the issuance of about one hundred and seventy warrants against the Chinese of that place, and only twelve warrants were made out, is given as one of the reasons for the panicky state of feeling now existing. Sheriff Booth has also been appealed to for more deputies.

The case against John Rogers, the sailor accused of insubordination on the high seas, was continued. The log-book, it seems, only mentioned the circumstances, but contained no statement made by Rogers. Edward Belmont's Serious Offense in San Francisco.

It appears that Edward Belmont, who is now awaiting trial for stealing a bleycle, is wanted in San Francisco on another serious charge.

Some time ago he purchased two tickets from the Southern Pacific Company for passage from Willows, in Colusa county, to San Francisco. He used one of these on the road, and presented the other at the office at his destination. He stated to the officials that he had purchased two tickets for himself and a companion, who had become separated from him on the train, and paid his fare. This explanation appeared plausible, and Belmont was accordingly given a voucher or order for 60 cents rebate on an unused ticket. Belmont found that the ticket rate from Houston, Tex., was $60, and, accordingly, changed the voucher so as to make it appear that the unused ticket was for a passage from that place, and was paid the $60.

The outfit was furnished him, but after he had driven away, the stable man beame suspicious and notified the Sheriff that he believed that the fellow meant to steal the horse and buggy. An officer was at once put on his track, an overhauled the man out in San Bernardino county. The would-be thie evaded arrest, but the property was returned to the owner.

Opinion in the Klessig-Atlspaugh Case.

The Supreme Court Affirms the Former Judgment.

Sult to Oust a Justice of the Peace from Office.

W. Davis Thinks That I. S. Moore Should Be Deprived of His Official Dignity. Lugo Gets a Three-years' of the lower court being affirmed.

A Supreme Court opinion has been rendered in the case of Klessig vs. Allspaugh et al., judgment and orders of the lower court being affirmed.

The plaintiff in the action sought to recover 1807.25 upon a building contractor's bond executed to him by the defendants. Allspaugh and Hall as principles, and by the defendant Lundern as surety. The bond sued upon was executed on October 15, 1887, and, after reciting the fact the complainant therein that the principals therein had alleged that the principals therein had on October 14, 1887, entered into a contract with the plaintiff to build for im a certain house, for the price and a accordance with specifications contined in the contract, which were as ollows: "Now, therefor, we, A. M. Illspaugh and M. S. Hall as principals, and H. V. Poser and N. P. Luncen as sureties, bind ourselves, our leirs and our executors and successors, in the sum of $5000 to forever hold harmless said Charles Klessig against any claims, demands, or liens of all characters whatsoever, for material or labor expended or used in the building, constructing and finishing of said house." ed that the principals therein had suliding, constructing and finishing of said house."

The oiginal building contract was not recorded. The price therein agreed to be pad for the construction of the building was $8000. Work under the contract was commenced after the execution d the bond referred to, and the building was completed by the contractor in accordance with the plans contained in the original contract, but plaintif was compelled to pay, in addition to the contract price, the amount sued for in the action for the purpose if discharging the liens for material/used in and labor performed on the building. Judgment was rendered in the Superior Court in favor of plaintiff and the defendant Lundeen appealed.

in the Superior Court in favor of plaintiff and the defendant Lundeen appealed.

The Supreme Court opinion, delivered in bank, recites that it is provided by section 1183 of the Code of Civil Precedure that all contracts for the construction of buildings, when the amount agreed to be paid therefor erceeds $1000, shall be in writing and filed in the office of the Recorder of the county where the property is situated, before work is commenced under the contract, and if not filed with the Recorder that it shall be wholly void and no recovery can be had thereunder by either party. The section further provides that, in such thereunder by either party. The section further provides that, in such case the labor and materials of all persons except the contractors should be deemed to have been done and furnished at the personal instance of the owner and they should have a lien for the value thereof.

The appellant Lundeen claimed that the bond sued upon in the action was dependent upon the contract referred to therein, and that, as this contract was wholly void under the section of the code referred to because not filed with the County Recorder, and that the bond was void also. The point thus presented was decided adversely to the contention of the appellant, in the case of Kleesig vs. Allspaugh et al., 91 California 234, in which the validity of the same bond was attacked by one of the principals named, upon the ground urged by appellant. In answering the objection to its validity the court then said: "Although the original contract could not be enforced, because not recorded, the contractor might, nevertheless, perform, and the plaintiff could accept such performance, and neither be guilty of any wrong in so doing; and if in performing the appellant incurred a personal liability for labor or materials, which was discharged by the plaintiff in order to remove a lien from his own property or at the request of the appellant, the obligation to repay, plaintiff is created by law, and would exist independently of the buildin and would exist independently of the building-contract, and is not affected by any defect therein, and is a sufficient consideration to support the express undertaking of defendant to repay, and the boild may, therefore, be deemed so far an independent undertaking that the right to enforce it does not depend upon the subsequent or continued validity of the building contract. As already stated, this bond is not within the letter of the section, and, it may be added, that it is not within its reason or spirit, and its enforcement is not in conflict with the policy of that section."

The sole purpose of the bond was to protect the plaintiff against the consequences of a failure of the contractors to pay the personal obligations which they might incur for labor and material, in the event that they actually constructed for him the building referred to in the contract, and it was the duty of the court to enforce it according to its terms.

The judgment would, therefore, be affirmed.

OTHER ORDERS.

The judgment would, therefore, be affirmed.

OTHER ORDERS.

Other orders have been made by the Supreme Court as follows:

"Excelsior Paving Company, respondent, vs. Leach et al., appellants; Upon authority of Brown vs. Jenks, No. 14,914, opinion filed March, 27, 1893, the judgment and order denying a new trial herein are reversed."

"Main Street Savings Bank and Trust Company, respondents, vs. Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, et al., appellants: In Farmers' and Merchants' Bank vs. Board of Equalization of Los Angeles, 97 Cal., 318, most of the questions involved in this appeal were determined adversely to the respondent. The additional point now presented, that the Legislature could not confer upon the State Board of Equalization authority to extend the time within which the County Board of Equalization could act, must also, under the principles declared in that case, be determined against the respondents; and upon the authority of that case judgment is reversed."

"Los Angeles County, and Security Savings Bank and Trust Company, respondent, vs. Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, and Security Savings Bank and Trust Company, respondent, vs. Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, and Security Savings Bank and Trust Company, respondent, vs. Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, appellants; same ruling as last above stated."

Justice I. S. Moore of Wilmington township, is making a struggle to retain the official insignia which demoninates him as the preserver of the peace down at the seaport town, and J. W. Davis is trying to have the said justice divested of his cloak of authority, and have the office which he holds declared vacant.

The case is entitled People vs. I. S. Moore, and it came up in Department Four yesterday for hearing before Judge Van Dyke; sociate with Attorney Savage, while Wells, Monroe & Lee appeared for the people.

The complaint was based on an affidavit made by J. W. Davis, and set forth that Justice Moore issued an attachment upon the property of Davis without due cause, and in a manner not in compliance with the required form. That he held the property under the illegal attachment for some days and refused to release it at the demand of the owner.

He afterward told Davis that he would release it provided a $50 bond was deposited with him, and this was done. Then the keeper turned the property over to Davis, but in a few hours returned and again assumed charge of it under orders from Moore. The latter, it seems, had consulted Attorney Savage, and had been told that he should not have released the property. Hence he sent the keeper back. Then Davis demanded his bond, and this the Justice also refused to deliver to him. For these acts it was asked that Moore be deprived of office.

The defense pleaded that it was through ignorance that the justice made the blunder, and they spent the greater part of the afternoon in arguing a motion to dismiss on this ground.

The case will be resumed this morn-ground.

The case will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock.

DANDRUFF, FOR TEN YEARS.

After using one bottle of Smith's Dandruff Formade, I am pleased to state that I am entirely cured of dandruff, with which I was troubled for ten years. I have paid out dollar after dollar for remedies recommended to me, but without any permanent effect, and your remedy is the only one that has perfected a cure. I found more benefit from three applications of your remedy than all others combined. I obserfully recommend it to all having trouble with dandruff, regardless of how many years standing. IN THE WOMAN'S BUILDING. is There a Man is Made to Peel His Utte

It is There a Man is Made to Peel His Utter Insignificance.

(Chicago Record:) Somebody had been calling the attention of the wife of the Maharajah of Kapurthala to objects of special interest at Jackson Park. "So this is the Woman's building," she said, as the great white structure was pointed out to her. "Do they allow men inside its wall?"

The question is amusing in itself, and yet a great, big interrogation mark of the same kind has appeared before the blurred visions of a thousand men who have paused at its threshold.

It cannot fail of notice that the man who wanders through the Woman's building seems invariably embarrassed and ill at ease. If he go alone, he looks conscience-stricken, glancing furtively about as if expecting to be ejected. He doesn't allow himself to become deeply interested in anything, and when he finally reaches the bronze statue of Leif Ericson at the west portal, he feels relieved.

Naturally enough, the married man accompanied by his wife shrivels into insignificance in this atmosphere. He becomes merely the husband of the woman, and looks on meekly as she makes the rounds. He feels about eleven years old and 3 feet 7 inches in height. He may have been always the self-assertive, domineering lord and master of his household, but fifteen minutes of the Woman's building reduces him to a minus quantity. He feels submissive to a painful degree.

Yes, the women allow men inside the Woman's building. But, in the nature of things, they can't encourage such invasions.

"I hev to do it—hev to do it," he whispered in reply: "Come to the door with me. D'ye see them three graves over thar?"

"Yes."

"Them's my predecessors in office—three of 'em!"

"Postmasters who have died, eh?"

"Postmasters who have been killed, sir—wiped out right here because they didn't tumble to human natur' around a postoffice!"

"You must have a special brand of human nature in this town?" I queried.

"Exactly, sir. Mebby you noticed old Bill Wheeler? He's never got a letter in his life, and probably never will, but when he asks for mail I go over the whole grist, and do it mighty careful, too. If I jest said: 'Nuthin' for you, Bill,' he'd out with his gun and blaze away. Did ye take notice of that one-eyed fellow, Jim Hastings? Of course I know there ain't no letter fur him, but I hev to run 'em over and inquire about his health and keep him good natured. He shot the first postmaster here. P'haps you noticed the little old woman with a bundle under her arm—John Dawson's wife? Her husband shot the second postmaster because he wouldn't open the office Sunday afternoon."

"And what was the third one shot for?"

"Got too high-toned. Uncle Tom Wallace tried to get him out of bed at midnight to see if there was a letter for him, but he bucked. Uncle Tom kinder hated to shoot, but felt that he over the dot of term and not a least the orter do it fur an example."

"And do you get up nights?"
"I don't hev to I leave the mail out here in a basket, keep a light burnin' and the door open, and if any one wants to paw the grist over he's at liberty to do it. It's the same on Sundays, and I guess the folks are purty well satisfied with the way things is runnin'. Leastwise I haven't been shot in the four months I've had the place, and I take that as a sign."

Consumption Not Caused by Cold.

Consumption Not Caused by Cold.

(New York Herald.) Everybody should clearly understand that consumption is never the result of catching cold, and this is proved by the fact that it does, or rather did, not exist in certain cold countries, such as Ireland or the Faroe Islands, until the disease made its appearance with the habitual use of alcohol.

Pulmonary phthisis has only two factors, lack of pure air and the abuse of alcoholic drinks, to which can be added pathological conditions, which, like diabetes, undermine the patient.

Phthisis spreads in direct ratio to the use of houses, to the increase in the number of stories to our houses, and to the desertion of life in the fields for life in the city.

The disease is rare toward the equator, for the simple reason that there are no manufacturing towns in that latitude. If large manufactories and asglomerations of human beings were to be formed in such regions, consumption would appear just as in any other spot, without the action of cold having anything to do with the matter.

According to whether the complaint is originated by the one or the other of the two causes mentioned above, it affects a different portion of the breathing apparatus. When a person becomes consumptive through an insufficient supply of pure air the tubercles form in the forward portion of the left apex, but with alcoholic patients they develop at the right apex, and these localizations are so habitual that in M. Lancereaux's opinion they are sufficient in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred to throw the physician on the track of the true cause of the disease.

Silver in Congress.

(Harper's Weekly:) The movement for the restoration of silver as a money metal began in this country with the passage of the Bland free-coinage bill, which after amendment secured by Mr. Allison in the Senate, became a law in February, 1878. Mr. Bland did not originate the silver movement, for the question of coinage was universal in the later seventies. While his bill was under discussion, continental Europe was adopting the gold standard. In 1870 Great Britain was the only gold-standard country in the world by law. The United States were practically a gold-standard country, for the silver dollar, being undervalued, did not circulate. In 1871 Germany adopted the gold standard, and practically threw her old silver coins on the market in the form of buildion. Holland followed in 1872, the Latin Union in 1876, and Spain in 1878.

The immediate reason for this movement was the depreciation of silver. Silver had failen, by reason of the discovery of the great American silver mines, from 613/d. per ounce in 1863, to 58/4d. in 1872, when the demonetization act was passed. By 1877 it was down to 54 13-16d., and the mine-owners began to fear that they would lose the great profits which had made the most of them multi-millionaires.

Mr. Bland was simply a means, an instrument, through which the mine-owners worked. When the act of 1878 was passed, John P. Jones was completing his first term as Senator from Nevada. His present colleague, William M. Stewart, was not then a member of the Senate. He had served in that body from 1864 to 1875. He was elected again in 1877. In the other years the silver kings had occupied the seat; for this pocket-borough, Nevada, is always represented in the Senate by men who dwell in San Francisco, but who own the mines that make her greatest and practically fier only resource.

ELECTRIC ROAD FRANCHISES. Ex-Dist.-Atty. James McLachlan addressed the board in the interest of the Los Angeles Consolidated Electric Rail Los Angeles Consolidated Electric Rail-way Company, with reference to the proposed franchises which the com-pany asks for in Pasadena. Mr. Mc-Lachlan stated that he was present to call up the petitions heretofore filed by Messrs. Foster and Painter for fran-chises, but, as the proposed franchises were locked in the office of the City At-torney, and he was absent, it would be were locked in the one of the city Ac-torney, and he was absent, it would be impossible to take the matter up intel-ligently without the documents. Mr. McLachlan stated, however, that his clients still desire a franchise over the McLachlan stated, however, that his clients still desire a franchise over the route indicated in the original petitions. When asked why his clients wanted franchises over parallel streets but a short distance apart, he said they had never told him, but he could imagine that a liberal franchise in Pasadena might be an advantage to any corporation attempting such a great enterprise in these depressed times, as building an electric railroad between Pasadena and Los Angeles. To properly build and equip such a road will require the expenditure of upward of $500,000. If this road is ever built, it will be built as all other railroads are built—by issuing—bonds and selling them in the money markets of the world. When these bonds are presented for sale, before the capitalist parts with his money for them, he will inquire carefully into the rights, privileges and franchises that these bonds represent, and, unless he finds them adequate, he will not buy them; and without the sale of the bonds the railroad cannot be built. No individual or corporation has the ready cash with which to build this road, especially in these hard times. It will only be built which to build this road, especially in by floating the bonds of the new enterprise. He said it was possible that the projectors of this enterprise might find that, by building on Colorado street, or Fair Oaks avenue, they might be able to float more bonds than by building upon other parallel streets; and the same may be true of other streets, hence he could see good reason for asking for franchises over streets that now appear unnecessary. To fall to grant these privileges now may discourage them in the enterprise to a degree that they will be obliged to abandon it entirely.

gree that they will be obliged to abandon it entirely.

Mr. McLachlan said that no individuals or corporations are hunting or begging for privileges to expend vast sums of money for the sole benefit of other individuals or communities at the present time, and he had faith it the good judgment and integrity of the City Council that it would do all in its power to assist in every way consistent with its duties, as the representative of the people and the best interests of Pasadena, the promoters of this great enterprise.

The matter was informally discussed, and, on account of the absence of Gly Automey Authur, who was called to San Bernardino to attend to some legal matters, definite action was postponed until next Monday.

A PEEPING TOM.

A PEEPING TOM.

For several weeks past some one has been annoying the residents in the vicinity of Mary street and Fair Oaks avenue, by playing the "Peeping Tom" act. More than one lady in this neighborhood has been alarmed while in the act of disrobing by sounds outside of her window, until the nulsance became to general that Marchal Buchanan was notified. By some clever detective work, he succeeded in running down the offender Saturday night, while engaged in his chady form of amusement. He happened to be a young man whose home is not far distant from the scene of operations. After he had fallen into the laster's office, after which he made full confession and piloted the Marchal around to the various houses he wisted that evening, in the hope of seeing behind the shutters and window curtains. The offender has not yet been placed under arrest, but if the parties whom he has been annoying can be induced to prosecute, he will certainly be taken severely to task for his misdeeds.

Several legal technicalities were urged by the defendant's counsel, but, without hearing any argument on Attorney Rossiter's side of the case, Judge Pierce rendered and cision in the latter gentleman's favor, by ordering an imperative writ of mandate to be issued compelling the justice to transfer the cause.

The most important business the board transacted was the passing of a resolution to the effect that hereafter the sale and distribution of water should be evened up between Anahelm and North Anahelm. Each district shall have an equal time in which to buy water, and the same shall be delivered equably. This resolution will meet the approval of every irrigator in this district, and is simply a matter of justice to all. The rate for water for sheep was fixed at 1 cent per head per month, and the sheep will not be allowed to be driven into the ditches to drink. An assessment of $1 per share was levied, payable on or before October 7. Bills to the amount of $100 were audited and ordered paid, when the board adjourned.

plenty of water and to spare. For the past few months the supply was not as plentiful as it might have been, but enough for all general purposes. The city, however, thought it would be advisable to sink another artesian well, so work was begun on a few one several weeks ago.

A few days ago a slight flow was struck, and Sunday, about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when no one was near the well, it began to send up a -volume of water that was truly surprising. An hour or so after and it had been transformed into a regular old "gusher." The water poured out of the top of the pipe, first bringing up mud and gravel and then clearing up until the while increasing in volume until evening, when it was estimated that evening, when it was estimated that half a head (about fifty inches) was pouring from its mouth. With this addition the city is one of the best watered in Southern California.

The instruments filed contained 3499 pages, and the copyists spread 4130 pages upon the records, part of which had been carried over from July. There was collected for fees the sum of $526.85.

The observation of Labor day, which ook the form of an excursion to and roogramme at Redondo Beach yesterlay, was organized and conducted by he Los Angeles Council of Labor, and proved to be a very enjoyable and suc-easful affair. A somewhat elaborate orgramme of amusements was made but, the prizes being donations from the business men of Los Angeles.

The Council of Labor is composed of all the inductrial unions of the city, and Monday's outing was participated in by members of the following orders composing the council: Carpenters, printers, stonecutters, digarmakers, painters, plumbers, paperhangers, cooks, bakers, waiters, machinists, tronmolders, sellors, longshoremen, tailors, electrical linemen, Clerks' Assoallows, electrical interient, Clerks Asso-iation and bricklayers. There were also present, upon invitation, repre-mentatives of the various lodges of the Knights of Labor, and of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union. J. S. Barbee, State secretary of the latter organization, was among those in attendance, and the 250 other members of the order who participated in the day's doings represented most of the forty sub-alliances of Los Angeles country, as well'as the alliances of San Diego, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties. liance and Industrial Union.

Diego, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties.

All the trains reaching Redondo bore large delegations of members of the various orders, their families and their friends, and the crowds by noon occupied the wharf, beach and frontage generally, each individual or group being left to his own choice of amusement prior to the beginning of the regular programme. The Casino was placed at the disposal of the visitors, and was headquarters during the day. The orchestra was in attendance, and when not elbowed off for more intellectual proceedings, the dance held sway.

W. A. White of the Stonecutters' Union, secretary of the council, was master of ceremonies, being seconded by a committee of arrangements composed of W. P. Galbraith and F. B. Golver of the Typographical Union, and S. Larsen of the Tailors' Union. It was 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon when Mr. White introduced as chief speaker of the day W. M. Wilkins of Freeno, who held the close attention of as many as could get within reach of his voice for three quarters of an hour, his address taking more the form of admonition and advice than an argument for or against parties or men.

an argument for or against parties or men.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wilkins's address it was announced that the games would follow, the balance of the speaking being deferred until evening.

The sports opened with the tug-of-war contest, held on the beach. It was between the married men on one side and, the single men on the other. Teams of ten were organized, the benedicts by G. S. Clarke, of the Typographical Union, and the bachelors by J. E. Cusic, of the plumbers. After a good and steady strain of fifteen minutes' duration, the family men won. Prize, a case of wine.

The various contests were thoroughly amateur in all respects. It was a good-natured free-for-all, for the benefit of those whose regular business is outside of the sporting field. This fact, and the fidelity with which it was illustrated, accounts for the absence of the usual details of similar events concerning times and distances.

It was sundown before the sports wese concluded, and many visitors had gone on the afternoon trains. A special train on the Santa Fe, which arrived shortly after 8 o'clock, added liberally to the remaining excursionists, but for some reason or other the deferred addresses did not materialize, and the day closed with the waltz dancing confest.

The Late Hueneme Fair-Changes Among

The Late Hueneme Fair—Changes Among Newspapers.

The Hueneme Fair is a thing of the past, and the Venturians who were in attendance have returned and settled down to Jusiness, well satisfied with the week's aport.

The fair was a success in every particular. The exhibits were attractive and tastefully displayed, and showed to advantage what could be done on Ventura county soil. The racing programme was especially good, the races being hotly contested and some fast time developed, and, above all, everybody was satisfied and spoke in the highest terms of the management.

The last week has brought quite a change among the newspapers of the town. The Daily Observer has ceased to exist, and the Venturian puts forth a daily to take its place. Just how a daily to take its place. Just how a daily paper can be run profitably in connection with a journal devoted to horticultural and kindred subjects remains to be demonstrated. "Ventura news items published almost daily in the Los Angeles dailies" is given as one of the principal causes of the demise of the late Observer.

Mrs. Lee W. Lloyd, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shepherd, for the past two weeks, received a letter from Oakland, her home, Sunday, stating that her husband was dangerously ill. She left on the evening train and will arrive in Oakland this (Monday) evening. A telegram was received from Oakland at 3 p.m. this afternoon, stating that Mr. Lloyd had just died. Mrs. Lloyd had been a resident of Ventura previous to her marriage, which took place about a year ago.

The Ventura Floral Society was reorganized last Saturday afternoon. An election of officers will take place at the next meeting, which will be held on the 30th inst. The object of the society is to study the nature and habits of plants to learn the best methods of cultivating and growing seeds, bulbs and flowers. It is the intention of the society to give semi-annual floral exhibits. Mrs. Theodosia B. Shepherd is the promoter of the society, and the meetings are to be held in her office on Main street.

The petition requesting the Board of Town Trustees to rescind the order discontinuing the nightwatchman, electric lights, sprinkling wagon, and other minor retrenchments, is being freely signed by the citizens and will be presented at the meeting of the board this (Monday) evening.

Some of the residents of Pillmore seem to take the law in their own hands. C. A. Belyea of that place had a valuable team of horses shot one day last week. They broke out of the corral and evidently wandered onto a neighbor's land, where they were shot. One died the same day, and the other is not expected to recover.

Barley still continues to pour into the Huenems warehouses. A Times representative counted twent three teams in line waiting to be unloaded one day last week. They run from a two-horse rig to twelve and fourteen-mule teams with two trail wagons.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

An Amphibious Exhibit—Horticultural Society—Personals.

One of the numerous concessions the Midwinter Fair Association has been asked to grant is the right for a company of enterprising Santa Barbara business men, Mayor Gaty and Mr. Rogers being interested in the company, to erect a building on the fair ground to contain grottos, aquariums and rookeries, where seals, sea otters, sea lions and sea tigers will sport in their native element. At first sight it would appear that San Franciscans, especially, will be little interested in seals, as the Seal Rocks are so close at hand. But sea otters are curious animals, not found if any aquariums in the United States, and the sea tiger has never yet been exhibited in a captive state. It is a very large animal, more on the sea lion order, with ferocious-looking head, cruel curved tusks and a hide striped with yellow and dark, like his feline counterpart.

To catch these animals it will be necessary to fit out a large schooner with tanks and cages, and to train a gang of men, over fifty animals being needed. The work of capturing will be done entirely on the Channel Islands off this coast, and must be done during the latter part of this month. be done entirely on the Channel Islands off this coast, and must be done during the latter part of this month. The enterprise certainly seems to be a feasible one, and as it is understood that the concession has been secured, the Barbarenos interested are to be congratulated on their enterprise in securing a taking typical feature of the Midwinter Fair.

LOST DIAMONDS FOUND. A $500 crescent diamond pin, lost by Jeannie Yeamans while here recently with the Jane company, was found late Monday afternoon in a heap of rubbish by Mr. Herrick, where it had been swept off the stage. This is a real case of diamond-losing, and not the usual thespian fake. Manager Gaty telegraphed Miss Yeamans at Los Angeles that the pin had been found, and it was sent to her.

Of the Smith Premier Typewriter.
Over 35,000 have been sold in four years, about 1400 of which are in use in San Francisco, and nearly 300 were sold in Los Angeles inside of the last eight months, which is about double the amount placed by all other typewriter agencies combined.
This is positive proof of its great superiority. It is rapidly replacing all others, and no typewriter has ever become so nocular, despite its rivals' most frantic efforts.

REDONDO.

The Beach Surrendered to Labor Day Ob-servants-Personals. The beach was surrendered to the Labor day observants on Monday, and apparently they made good and full use of it. President Ainsworth and General Manager Thompson have returned from their business jaunt North. They come back more than pleased with the business, present and prospective, of Southern California, in comparison with any or all sections of the Northern Coast.

Monday, as usual, was a busy day with the local Santa Fe force. It saw shipments of fourteen cars of merchandise, twelve cars of ties and four cars of lumber.

Owing to other attractions, the wrestling match announced for Monday afternoon was postponed until Sunday next.

On Monday afternoon the friends and playmates of Rose Beatrice, eldest daughter of J. N. They responded to the number of twenty-five, and a very enjoyable time was had. Refreshments were served, and the Redondo Hotel carryall was brought into requisition to give all the little folks a jolly ride.

The public schools of Redondo opened on Monday's crowd was an unusually orderly gathering for one of its size. Stage Difficulties.

(London Figaro:) The hushing down of applause during the progress of a Wagnerian opera appeared rather to disconcert Mr. Lassalle, who, on making his first appearance this season in "The Flying Dutchman," at Covent Garden last week, was received absolutely without a hand. Between the acts, however, he was accorded as much applause as he could have desired. The performance of "The Flying Dutchman" must have been considered a strange one by any members of the Wagner party who may have been present. Some of the artists, in accordance with Italian precedent, sung to the footlights instead of each other, the band conducted by the Italian, Mr. Mancinelli, went at it with vigor the drummer particularly making a night of it, while the hitches in the stage arrangements were often very laughable. To see several men walking in the trough of the sea pulling along the gigantic phantom ship of the Dutchman, calling to each other "Get on!" and "Whoa!" as the vessel from time to time struck on a rock, was amusing enough. Mild wagers were laid that "The Flying Dutchman" would never get to land at all, and, indeed, Mr. Mancinelli laid down his baton and stopped his band while the ship was being maneuvered. It was not the fault of Mr. Lassalle, for he clearly could not be expected to walk the wäves. In the last act, too, the ship absolutely refused to smash up, and it was left still swimming the ocean when the curtain finally fell. In compensation for this sort of thing, Wagner's music was sung by Mime. Albani, Mr. Lassalle and Edward de Reszke, as certainly no German artist now on the stage could possibly have sung it. Stage Difficulties Reszke, as certainly no German artist now on the stage could possibly have

The Historical Society of Southern California held its regular monthly meeting in Judge Austin's courtroom last evening, the room being well filled with members and visitors.

She exhibited some relication on the grounds, and described Mr. McGlashin's museum of Donner relica at Truckee. Mr. McGlashin has been for years endeavoring to obtain means to erect a monument to the memory of those who died in that dreary camp. Mrs. Marshail's interesting paper was listened to with close attention, and was highly appreciated by the intelligent audience present.

R. H. Hewitt read a paper on the "Great Financial Panic of 1857." He described in graphic language that period of financial madness, and contrasted it with the panic of 1893. When that widespread panic had passed over, the money, or what passed for money—the State bank notes—was swept out of existence. But when the great panic of 1893 shall have passed away, there will be just as much money as there was before. The paper was discussed by Messrs. Barrows, Baxter and Guinn.

A discussion arose in regard to an old Mexican cannon on the Los Virgines Rancho. The secretary, Mr. Guinn, stated that he had made an effort to obtain it for the society, but did not succeed. Miss Hattle Canfield stated that the cannon was now in possession of a Mr. Dominguez.

This cannon is supposed to have been abandoned by Gov. Micheltoreno on his march southward to fight Pico and Castro, in 1845.

Miss Florence A. Dunham, of the Los Angeles High school, was propose for membership. President Jones gave a brief description of the California historic exhibition at the World's Fair. The exhibit, while not extensive, attracted a great deal of attention from visitors.

The society adjourned until the next regular meeting.

The Paper Better Than Ever!

Adepartment particularly adapted to the peculiar character of our Southern California agricultural and horticultural interests, carefully prepared by a practical and educated farmer, will, in the future, be a valuable feature of the Saturday Trims and weekly Mirkon, and will also appear in the daily issue each Saturday. A Southern California News Page is also published weekly. These features, with the variety, reliability and general excellence of the other departments, render this paper infinitely superior as a general family newspaper to any weekly publication in the Southwest.

At a meeting of the Board of Education, held on September 2, you were assigned to the — street school. The week beginning September 11 will be devoted to the preliminary organization of the schools, and to a city teachers' institute for the special benefit of teachers in the kindergarten, primary and grammar grades.

"On Monday, September 11, at 9 a.m., you will report to the principal of your school for particular instructions regarding the work to which you have been assigned. At 2 p.m., of the same day you will be expected to be present at the first session of the institute in the assembly-room of the High School building."

It is announced at the office of the Superintendent of Schools that all substitute teachers are requested to call there at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. All principals are requested to meet at room 3 of the High School building at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday morning.
On publishing the list of assignments of teachers for the public schools four names were inadvertently omitted. For the Fremont-avenue school Miss Esther L. Strauss was named as principal and Misses Olivia Day and Rachel H. Jamison were selected as teachers. Miss Ada E. Skofstead was assigned to the Alpine-street school.

Numerous complaints are made in reference to the action of the Board of of teachers for the public schools. It is stated that there are several instances in which a teacher, to whom the people and especially their children who attend school, have become accustomed, has been replaced by another who is not well known.

A PECULIAR CASE.

An Old Man Causes a Scare at Westlake A peculiar case of supposed at-tempted suicide occurred at Westlake

Park early yesterday morning.
At about 6:35 o'clock Mrs. Hooker, who keeps the Westlake restaurant, was approached by a man of about 55 was approached by a man of about 55 years of age, who asked that she should give him some brandy or whisky. She told him that she did not keep either of the articles called for, but could give him some mild drinks. The man declined to take anything of that sort and started to walk toward the lake. He went as far as the boathouse and stepped within the railing where people go to get into the shoats. At this place he was seen to divest himself of his coat and hat, as if he were preparing to jump into the water.

Mrs. Hooker surmised that the man was about to attempt to drown himself, and, thinking that she would be unable to pull him out, ran for assistance, believing that she could secure help before he would die.

She woke one or two of the people about the lake and within a few minutes quite a number had collected about the place of the supposed drowning.

As soon as Mrs. Hooker got back to the boathouse some of the men asked her where it was that the man had jumped in, in order that they might drag for the body at that place.

The lady looked about her somewhat nervously and then exclaimed. "Why, there he is, right there!" at the sametime indicating with her hand a man who stood leaning against a post.

Officer Marden and removed to the police station in the patrol wagon. He gave his name as Laban Roberson, the proprietor of the Roberson House on Temple street. He stated that he was 59 years of age.

It was learned from Mrs. Roberson, the wife of the man, that he had been acting strangely for some time and had on previous occasions declared his intention of ending his life.

It was intimated yesterday that the affair was in some measure brought about by family trouble, although at the receiving hospital Roberson declared that the only reason for wishing to end his life was because of the intolerable pain he was suffering, he having had heart disease for some time past.

Roberson is a well-educated Englishman, considerably past middle life, and apparently in comfortable circumstances. If he has any family troubles he has so far kept them te himself. He has a wife, but no children.
